CONTEST

Never have too many pairs of shoes, but if you're for a good cause! The fashionista is looking for a pair of Vans to support the company's annual Custom Culture Contest that aims to inspire creativity and promote arts education in high schools across the nation. One thousand schools will participate, and five finalists will be showcased in Los Angeles this May. The winning school will be awarded a $50,000 donation toward their arts program. Not too shabby! vans.com/customculture

Hot CLASS

If you crave personal attention from trainers but prefer the group motivation of a class, try Focus PT[®] from Focus Integrated Fitness in NYC (David Schwimmer and Alicia Silverstone are fans of the company, say reps). There are six stations where you'll do core and conditioning exercises for six minutes each, with the help of an iPad docked at each one to reinforce the right movements. $40 per class, focusnyc.com ★
